

ELLE

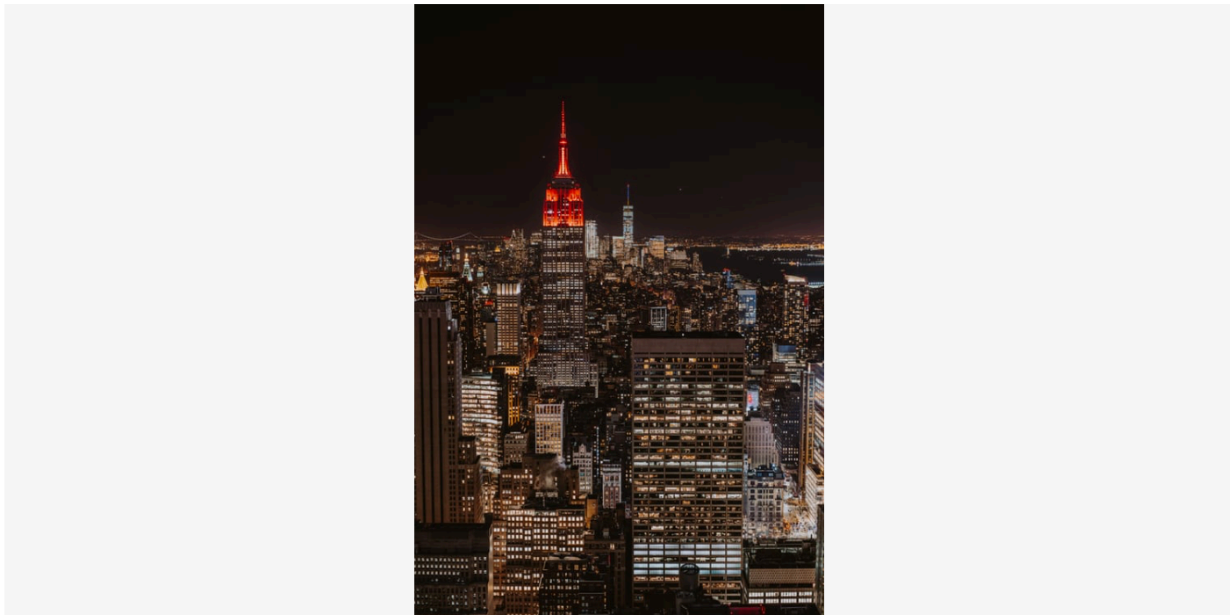

Aamir Khandwala's guide to the top global destinations for design-lovers

The New York-based interior designer's picks range from romantic Paris to bustling Tokyo

ELLE By Aamir Khandwala February 12th, 2020

Does visiting architectural marvels from across the globe get your heart racing? Interior designer and aesthete Aamir Khandwala puts together an exhaustive list of visually pleasing places around the globe, that every art buff must visit. Scroll through the gallery:

New York City: It has been my home for over twenty-five years and, yet it features right on top of my list, because of its fascinating galleries, museums and cultural events. Favourite furniture galleries include Cristina Grajales, Hostler Burrows, and L'art De Vivre. Take time to visit smaller museums like the Noguchi Museum, Museum of Arts and Design and Neue Galerie.

Photograph: Jacob Snavely (Aamir Khandwala)